George Thomas Abell was born at Wakeeney, Kansas. While attending Colorado A&M (now Colorado State University), he was a member of Gamma Omega, an honorary fraternity, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon, a social fraternity. He graduated with degrees in civil and irrigation engineering and mechanical engineering. In 1927 he moved to Midland, Texas, where he trained himself as a geologist and entered the petroleum business as an independent oil operator. In 1939, he married Gladys Hanger of Ft. Worth, the daughter of a pioneer Tarrant County family.

During his professional career, he was active in the Independent Petroleum Association of America, Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association, Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, and the Permian Basin Petroleum Association. He was a charter member of the Permian Basin Petroleum Pioneers Association.

In addition to his professional endeavors, Mr. Abell was also active in many civic, community, cultural, social, educational and historical activities. He was a member of the Board of Education of the Midland Independent School District. He served as President of the Board during the construction of the present Midland High School auditorium. As a result of these accomplishments, he was awarded a life membership in the Texas Congress of the Parent-Teacher Association. He served as the Chairman of the first capital funds campaign for Midland Memorial Hospital and was a member of the hospital's Board of Trustees and Board of Governors. A member of the Downtown Midland Rotary Club, he was recognized on numerous occasions for his contributions to the civic, cultural and educational betterment and growth of Midland.

George Abell devoted much time to the Boy Scouts of America, serving in various capacities in the Buffalo Trail Council. He led the capital fund campaign which secured the 6,000 acre camp in the Davis mountains. For his service to the Boy Scouts, he was awarded the highest recognition of the Boy Scouts, the Silver Beaver Award.

While serving as a director of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Abell originated the idea for the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum, Library and Hall of Fame. He spent much of his time and effort collecting antique oil field equipment now displayed on the Museum’s grounds. Many of the oil paintings of historical events which are on display in the Museum were researched by George and commissioned by the Abell-Hanger Foundation. He was the first president of the Museum’s board of trustees and a member of the Hall of Fame.
Gladys Hanger Abell was born and raised in Fort Worth, Texas, the daughter of a pioneer Tarrant County Family. She graduated from Paschal High School and attended Texas Christian University and the University of Texas at Austin.

Throughout her lifetime, Mrs. Abell was an active champion of civic and cultural causes, contributing her time, talents, energy, and financial resources as one of West Texas’ most philanthropic citizens. She served on the board of governors of Midland Memorial Hospital, board of trustees of Midland Presbyterian Homes, and the President’s Club of the Museum of the Southwest. She took great pride in her service on the board of trustees of the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum, Library, and Hall of Fame.

Her interests also included the Midland Odessa Symphony and Chorale, Midland Garden Club, Women’s Auxiliary of Midland Memorial Hospital, Delta Delta Delta Midland Alumnae Chapter, and the Midland Women’s Club of which she was a life member.

An avid American patriot, Mrs. Abell was a member of the Texas Chapter of the National Society of Colonial Dames of America, and the Daughters of the American Revolution. She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Midland.

The Abell-Hanger Foundation was created by Mr. and Mrs. Abell to carry on the philanthropic endeavors which they pursued during their lifetimes. Speaking of business success, George Abell once said,

“Sure, men like to be successful, not just for the money, but because of what one can do for his community, his country, and for mankind. Business success provides the opportunity to do some of the things most of us dream about doing for our community and its various institutions, organizations, and agencies.”

To their memory, this annual statement reports the Foundation’s endeavors for the current fiscal year.

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR’S REPORT
TRANSITIONS

Much of life is spent dealing with transitions, some expected and others unexpected. This is true for individuals, corporations and communities alike. As individuals we transition from youth to adulthood, to employees, to parenthood and then (perhaps) to retirement. Like individuals, organizations too must transition their staff and directors. Often communities transition in leadership, vision, changing demographics and often to new economic realities. Some of these transitions are easy and natural but often they are abrupt and unplanned but obviously the best transitions are anticipated and planned.

This year we are celebrating the 15th year of our Students in Philanthropy (SIP) programs which has now grown to programs on three area college campuses and at five high schools in Midland and Ector counties. The objective of the SIP program is to educate and motivate a new generation of philanthropists and volunteers to meet the emerging future needs in our community. The A-HF program coordinator for this program is Suzanne C. Thomas and her report contained in this annual report is both comprehensive and impressive.

We continue to support the nonprofit sector of our community with our support of the Generations program which the Nonprofit Management Center delivers to our community. This is the 5th year of that development program for the future directors and staff of our local nonprofits. The objective of this program is to provide those future leaders with all the tools that they will need to be successful in their respective roles. The program capitalizes on the experience and skills of many volunteers and leaders in the community to teach and mentor the next generation.

Midland has embraced a rebirth of the oil and gas industry which has brought about great prosperity to the City and region. That economic rebirth has given birth to a change in the philanthropic landscape in the creation of a number of new private foundations and charitable trusts. This confluence of new charitable dollars in our area is truly exciting and creates new opportunities for collaboration and cooperation. The unique spirit of Midland in the past has been the involvement of local businesses in charitable endeavors. There is a new birth of corporation philanthropy which only serves to heighten the effectiveness of the permanent philanthropic entities whose mission is solely benevolent.

There is no better illustration of the power of our new circumstances than the Midland Shared Spaces initiative which the Abell-Hanger trustees have embraced and facilitated by the hiring of new staff to focus on the space needs of our local nonprofits and intriguing opportunity to enhance their organizational efficiency. The fundraising for this $8 million initiative has been extremely encouraging and the response from those asked to support nearly universally favorable. With any innovative projects, there will be skeptics and those that let fear of failure rule their grantmaking decisions. As of this writing, the project has received favorable responses from the Scharbauer Foundation, Henry Foundation, Pevehouse Family Foundation, Paul & Katherine Morrow Foundation, Wayne and JoAnn Moore Charitable Trust, Rea Charitable Trust, Warren Family Foundation and Chaparral Foundation. In addition many smaller charitable entities are providing operating support for the first three years of the new facility.

Without question these positive responses from both the charitable and business sectors are clear indications of the validity of the Midland Shared Spaces initiative. When these fundraising efforts are concluded, I am positive that all pertinent funders in the community will be participants.

And the rebirth of generosity of local corporations is further evident in the bold and very generous support of this shared spaces project by Concho Resources. Their $1 million commitment to the project serves to enhance the funding by the charitable sector and makes this emerging initiative a virtual reality. It is the type of charitable leadership that they have demonstrated in building their company and their desire to give back to the community is one of the most encouraging transitions in recent memory.

Another example of this paradigm shift is seen in the support for Early College High School @ Midland College. When faced with possible extinction due to State of Texas funding reductions, the charitable community joined together to provide critical funding to ensure the continuance of this successful educational program. The “A List” of charitable funders including Abell-Hanger, Helen Greathouse and Rae Charitable Trusts, Chaparral and Fasken foundations plus the newly emerging Scharbauer Foundation all agreed to fund the program. This effort brought out the support of Concho Resources and then in June Pioneer Resources committed $1 million over the next four years to both undergird operating funding and to expand the impact of ECHS. We hope that other local companies will follow the generosity of Concho and Pioneer. We sincerely hope that this is a sustainable trend of collaboration between the business and charitable sectors.

Transitions are best accomplished when the past, present and future can be brought together with a clear vision.

Organizational transitions for staff and directors are critical to fulfilling its mission. These transitions should be viewed, as much as possible, as relay races rather than a sprint race with the key ingredient being a smooth and effortless passing of the baton from one to another. Careful planning and coordination of these expected events are absolutely crucial to success in transition. Abell-Hanger as a philanthropic organization will exist into perpetuity which someone opined is a lot longer than you might think. It is my hope and expectation that all the future staff and trustees will only fitting and proper to do so.

Best said by Gaylord Nelson, “(T)he truest test of man’s conscience may be his willingness to sacrifice something today for future generations whose words of thanks will not be heard.”

George and Gladys Abell continue to support all these transitions to help our community be all that it can be for the citizens of Midland and West Texas.

STUDENTS IN PHILANTHROPY CELEBRATES ITS 15TH ANNIVERSARY

It’s hard to believe the 2011-2012 school year marked the 15th Anniversary since the Students in Philanthropy program was established at Midland College in 1997. Through the generosity of George and Gladys Abell and because of the vision of the Abell-Hanger Foundation trustees, over 1,600 students have participated in the SIP program which now exists on 8 campuses in the Permian Basin area. Because of these student’s fundraising and grant making efforts they have provided 1,200 grants to 152 nonprofit organizations.

Equally remarkable is the fact that since inception of the program in 1997, the students have given over $1 million to the communities in the form of grants.

The Students in Philanthropy wouldn’t exist without strong leadership from the beginning. In 1996 Arlen Edgar, trustee of the Foundation at the time, and David Smith, Executive Director, attended the Conference of Southwest Foundations and attended a session presented by the El Pomar Foundation in Colorado regarding Youth in Philanthropy, their statewide program designed to reach and teach high school students about the nonprofit sector, philanthropy and volunteering. It was thought such a program would be a nice compliment to the relationship between the Foundation’s Legacy Scholarship and Midland College because the Legacy Scholarship program incorporated a requirement of community service. And it was further agreed that education of youth in the areas of philanthropy would be something that George and Gladys Abell would be proud to support.

So through the leadership of Arlen Edgar, David Smith, Dr. David Daniel, president of Midland College at the time and under the direction of Laura McCabe, the Students in Philanthropy program was developed and began as an extracurricular activity at Midland College. And in subsequent years Laura McCabe was instrumental in working with Lee High School and Midland High School to duplicate the program on the high school level. Eventually the high school SIP programs evolved from an extracurricular club to a daily class for which students can earn an elective credit toward graduation. Today the SIP program also exists on the campuses of Odessa College, University of Texas at the Permian Basin, Odessa High School, Permian High School, Greenwood High School and is currently being duplicated with Early College High School at Midland College.

The mission statement of the Students in Philanthropy program is to “engage young adults in philanthropy and volunteerism, inspiring a life time of service”. The impact is evident by end of year comments from students:

- “SIP has made me more aware of the great community we live in and showed me how important it is to donate to the organizations that make my community a wonderful place to live.”
- “Now I know that with effort and dedication we can change the life of somebody.”
- “I now love to serve my community and I now take advantage of all opportunities given to me to help others. I now have philanthropy in my blood, and I plan to forever serve, volunteer, and help improve the lives of others through philanthropy.”
STUDENTS IN PHILANTHROPY CELEBRATES ITS 15TH ANNIVERSARY

- “Thank you for the opportunity to make a difference in this community.”
- “I have learned that you need to volunteer in the community to be an actual part of the community. Without volunteering, you don’t truly know what is going on in the community and the struggles people face on a day-to-day basis.”
- “I am astounded by the idea that the young people I rub shoulders with every day in class are the future board members and leaders in my community. To make great things happen, teamwork is an absolute ingredient.”
- “I never realized that the people that we helped would be so thankful.”
- “Helping around your community doesn’t always mean you have to be the richest person in town. Just a small amount of your time can help in a huge way.”

The nonprofit organizations in the community also recognize the importance of the SIP programs. When the announcement was made regarding the 15th Anniversary, many letters of congratulations were sent. Here is what some nonprofit organizations that have benefitted from SIP had to say:

- “These young people are remarkable! I believe with all my heart that this program helps them become so. They have learned that they can make an incredible difference, not only by monetary gifts, but also through their service to the nonprofit community. [SIP] has helped shape a generation that will shape subsequent ones.” -Bynum School

- To the SIP students – “At a fairly young age you are a part of, and are experiencing something extraordinary – helping others truly in need and you are able to see the results. We, the nonprofits, all have vital needs and you have met them with love and gusto. Your energy and commitment to serving others has literally made many of us weep with pride and gratitude – in you all, and for you all.” -High Sky Children’s Ranch

- Also to the SIP students – “Your participation in Students in Philanthropy gives you the skills and understanding to become philanthropic leaders in our community. With your dedication, research, and fundraising efforts, you show your peers the importance of being involved in changing the world right where you live.” -Safe Place of the Permian Basin

• “Midland and Odessa are truly blessed to have youth leaders who have a true sense of community and recognize the value of giving back and choose to be part of creating a stronger community. You are all an inspiration.” ----Girls Scouts of the Desert Southwest

Of course SIP would not be possible without the dedicated coordinators on each campus. In addition to teaching a specialized curriculum they work alongside the students to develop and implement fundraisers, coordinate volunteer efforts, and guide the students through the sometime mind boggling process of evaluating grant applications. These teachers work diligently on a daily basis to light the fire of philanthropy in hearts and lives. The campus coordinators also plan and implement the two Fall and Spring SIP conferences which bring together students from all programs to participate in joint educational opportunities.

As a foundation we often address the issue of impact. What impact on the community has been made through the organizations and programs we fund? Have we made a difference in someone’s life? Have we changed our community in any way? At a recent end of year SIP grant awards ceremony I challenged the students to ask themselves these same questions - what have I done to help my fellow man? Have I had a positive impact in my community? Am I making my life count? Have I left my handprint in hearts and lives? Those questions can be answered by just a glimpse into the long and lengthy list of people that have been helped, programs that have been funded, and items that have been purchased with the $1 million dollars donated by SIP to the community over the last fifteen years, not to mention all of the volunteer hours donated and the passion that went into these grantmaking decisions.

The answer to the question, “Have I left my handprints in lives and in the community around me”, has to be a resounding YES. Not only are our communities better because these students walked this way but there is much hope for the future because of the heart of philanthropy instilled in these young people. We think that the Abells would be very proud of this program.

RELIGION
In furtherance of the mandate in its charter to support “any benevolent, charitable, educational, or missionary undertaking,” the Foundation makes grants to nonprofit organizations, which are involved in such undertakings for the public welfare, including, but not limited to, education, health services, human services, arts and cultural activities and community or societal benefit.

The Abell-Hanger Foundation has deep roots in Midland and the West Texas region. Midland was the site of Mr. Abell’s professional life and, together with Mrs. Abell, his personal life. As evidenced by the respective biographies is this report, the Abells were engaged in a wide range of community and civic activities. Mr. Abell’s business success was primarily achieved as an oil and gas operator in the rural areas of West Texas. As a result of his involvement in this geographic region, he developed a deep sense of obligation to the people and rural communities of West Texas.

The trustees have a strong commitment to continue the Abell’s philanthropic interests in Midland and West Texas. The trustees have affirmed that commitment to West Texas by targeting a preponderance of the foundation’s annual grant budget to Midland and fifty-six other counties in West Texas: Andrews, Bailey, Borden, Brewster, Crane, Cochran, Coke, Cottle, Crockett, Crosby, Culberson, Dawson, Dickens, Ector, El Paso, Fisher, Floyd, Gaines, Garza, Glasscock, Hale, Hockley, Howard, Hudspeth, Irion, Jeff Davis, Kent, Kimble, Lamb, Loving, Lubbock, Lynn, Martin, Menard, Midland, Mitchell, Motley, Nolan, Pecos, Presidio, Reagan, Reeves, Schleicher, Scurry, Sterling, Stonewall, Sutton, Taylor, Terrell, Terry, Tom Green, Upton, Val Verde, Ward, Winkler and Yoakum.

Please refer to the foundation’s web site, www.abell-hanger.org, for current information on foundation policy, grant criteria, and application deadlines.
